The former Palace theater was bought out from a man from Tennessee and is back open now! Palace Theater's new owner David Fee plans to prove his company will run the dinner theater efficiently and hopes customers will give their venue a chance.

"We will need a chance to prove to everybody that we can be successful, different and we look forward to that," Legacy Entertainment Group President and CEO Fee said. "We love theater. Theater is what we do. Theater is how we've made our lives for the last 30 years."
